

European training certification

The Department of Neurorehabilitation Sciences of the Istituto Auxologico Italiano, IRCCS, Milan-Italy, has been certified as a European “training center” for residents in Physical and Rehabilitation Medicine

The certification is released by the European Board of Physical and Rehabilitation Medicine. This is a section of the Union Européenne des Medecins Spécialistes, a Body affiliated with the European Union.

This acknowledgment follows rigorous procedures of credentialing of teaching physician, methods and facilities.

Thank to this qualification the department is entitled to train residents in PM&R from EU and affiliated states, in agreement with national norms.

In Italy only two more certified units exist.

The certifying board also provides a European credentialing of individual specialists (<https://uems-prm.eu/prm-board-of-uems/>).
